

Odstock to Homington "figure eight" walk

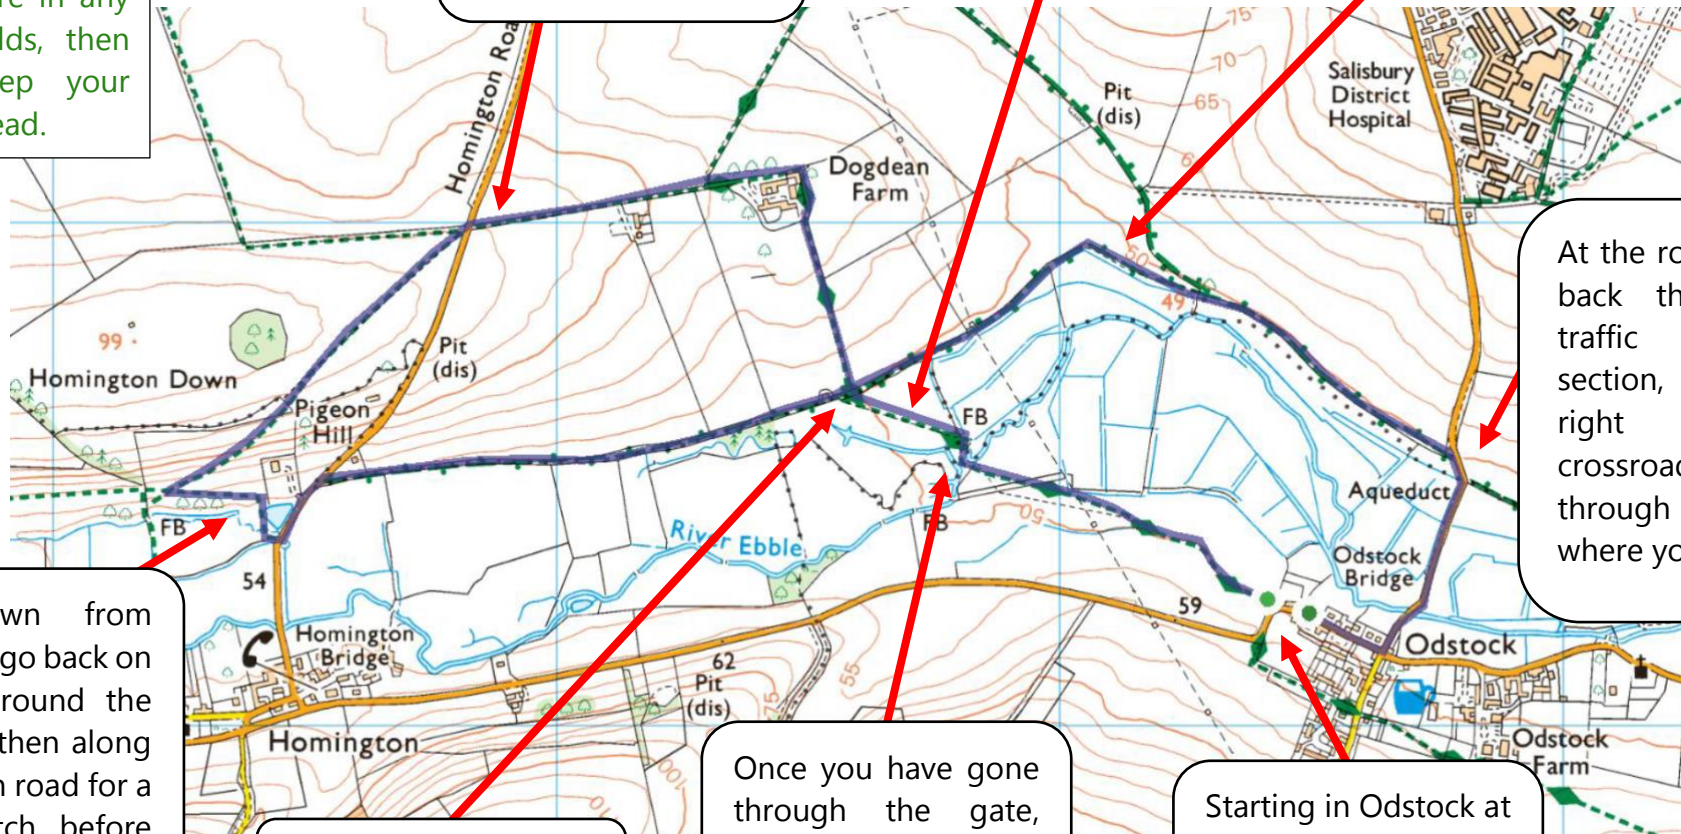

Dog friendly, but if livestock are in any of the fields, then please keep your dog on a lead.

Go around Dogdean farm and then carefully over the road.

This stretch can get quite boggy in the winter months

Follow the path round to the right and along the fields edge.

At the road follow it back through the traffic calming section, taking a right at the crossroads and back through Odstock to where you started.

Once down from Pigeon hill go back on yourself, around the pond and then along Homington road for a short stretch before turning right to back along the field edge.

Head through the gate and straight over into the next field..

Once you have gone through the gate, walk along the river to a small bridge. Once over that there is an aging stile to cross into the field the other side.

Starting in Odstock at the gate at the end of the village, go through the gate and across the field heading towards the tree line.
